Air Care Alliance

Hello Mitchel Sellers,

Thank you for registering with the Air Care Alliance!

Here is your COMPASSION callsign ID: CMF2537

Call sign numbers are sequentially assigned to you at no cost. However, some pilots prefer a call sign number that is more meaningful to them. You may upgrade the free assigned number above for one of your choosing through our call sign fundraiser. To get a different call sign, click here for details.

Usage:

COMPASSION and its associated three-letter identifier CMF are to be used to identify aircraft conducting bona fide nonprofit public benefit flying missions. Such missions may include the following: transporting individuals for health care, diagnostics, or treatment; transporting blood, tissues, organs, or medical supplies; transporting emergency personnel, equipment, and supplies in time of emergency or public need; performing habitat or environmental survey or other missions in support of environmental objectives; transporting rescue animals or wild animals needing relocation; and in general conducting non-profit flying operations serving the public interest, especially those conducted by volunteers.

Restrictions:

COMPASSION must not be used for routine personal, business, or commercial flights. COMPASSION must not be used for positioning or ferry flights during the times of flight an actual public benefit flying mission is not being conducted; EXCEPT that it may be used when there is a demonstrable need for appropriate (but not priority) handling by ATC. COMPASSION must not be used for flights other than those defined above.

Should pilots or organizations abuse the use of the call sign then the Air Care Alliance or the FAA can withdraw permission for its use from pilots and/or their groups or institute additional restrictions on its use.

Please thoroughly review the instructions for use and other helpful information which are maintained on the Air Care Alliance website.

Being a volunteer pilot is a remarkable thing and we thank you for the service you provide to those in need.

Sincerely,

The Air Care Alliance
